

All of these dogs have been spayed/neutered, have received their rabies, distemper/parvo combo and bordetella vaccines, and have been tested for heartworm and intestinal parasites. If you are interested in adopting a German Shepherd you will need to fill out an adoption application and set up a time for a home visit. The adoption fee is $200-250.

Kane is a gorgeous male Bi-color German Shepherd that is around 2 years old. He absolutely loves to play fetch and I think he would be a great dog to train for agility or police work due to his drive and energy. He gets along fine with my two female GSDs, but has shown some aggression toward my other fosters. He would probably be best in a home with a female dog his own size or in a home with no other dogs. Due to his high drive, I do not recommend Kane for a home with cats, small dogs or young children.
